

Maureen CARTHY PSQA

My photographic journey began in 1990, when I enrolled in the first ever Associate Dip of Art and applied photography at James Cook University, in Townsville. As an award winning student, my work was published in Correct Exposure in 1993.

I loved my big heavy Bronica medium format camera and processed many amazing images, in my purpose build darkroom.

Given that my full time employment was demanding, I didn't have time (no internet then) to market my images, so I packed away my photographic equipment. In 2016 I picked up a camera again and joined the Townsville Photograph Club, teaching myself the art of digital photography and post processing. Yes, the old magic was still there. For me photography is a way of seeing the world, as it is today and photography sets me free to live in the moment. Like a box of chocolates, I enjoy and have fun with most genre of photography. I really like reviewing other photographers images, so I took up the challenge to becoming an accredited judge. Why, because I hope to share my love of photography, by motivating others to reach their photographic goals.

Today I am the president of a new club in Townsville, called the North Queensland Camera Groups, so if you have time please check us out on the web, we go live February 2018

Catch me on Flickr; <https://www.flickr.com/photos/110907276@N06/>