

John BLESSAS APHA

I have always been interested in photography.

Started with simple point and shoot cameras and graduated to 35mm Olympus OM SLR's.

As an electrician I specialised in lighting. This simply carried over to my photography and I still love to get interesting images from pushing the boundaries with light.

Growing up in the bush has given me a curiosity about nature and wildlife which have become my pet subjects along with working with models.

I teach lighting, working with models and then the Photoshop to bring out the image.

Currently semi retired and looking forward to the next WOW image.
