I love all types of photography especially things that will challenge my imagination, show this serenity of a location, the thrill of the chase or high action shots, so I am always pushing my camera gear to its limits, some things work and some don't but I will always enjoy the experience.

I can appreciate the effort that some hard-core nature photographers put into getting the images, I am not a botanist or someone who studies which animal comes from which country and I don't really agree with some of the other rulings under the category of nature, so if you're looking for a "true" nature ruling then I'm not the judge for you.

My aim with my judging is to encourage you as the photographer to challenge yourself and take control of your camera and have a go, I enjoy going to clubs and meeting people face to face as new members or often lost in the terminology of photography with written comments.
